

ABSTRACT

An exemplary wireless communication device comprises a housing having a front surface, a first side surface, and a second side surface, wherein the second side surface is situated opposite the first side surface of the housing. An antenna is situated proximate the first side surface, and a speaker and a microphone are situated proximate the second side surface of the housing, which results in increased distance and EM interference between the user's head and the antenna during conversational use of the wireless communication device.

5